Little League Awards Set For Monday at Carmel Valley Inn

Local Little Leaguers will wind up their baseball season with an award luncheon to be held Monday, Aug. 26, at the Carmel Valley Inn. The event will be hosted by Hacienda Carmel for the Valley's Hacienda Red Sox Little League group, and by the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center for Carmel's P. A. Mac's team.

The boys will enjoy an hour of swimming preceding the luncheon and starting at noon. High point of the festivities will be the awarding of a winner's cup, following lunch, to the P. A. Mac's as winning team. The cup, donated by the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, will be passed on to winning teams in future years.

Pipe Band Big Hit In Weekend of Highjinks

Over 1,200 listeners filled the Forest Theater to overflowing last Sunday afternoon as the Stuart Highlanders Pipe Band of San Francisco set the pines a-ringing with the skirling of the wild music of Scotland.

The clansmen drove down for the third annual event on Saturday Morning and, after rehearsal at the high school parking lot, went to City Hall, where each piper met his host family, with whom he stayed for the weekend.

That evening the high shenanigans began with a party at the American Legion Hall on Dolores St. Nearly 200 revelers met there for dinner and an evening of refreshments and music by the pipers. An "impromptu" torchlight parade was a special feature of the evening.

Sunday morning all those who were fit went to the Arne Halle residence in Carmel Valley for breakfast, then the pipers returned to town to don their dress uniforms for the big parade.

Then the grand procession got under way, starting at the Legion Hall, then over to Ocean Avenue. Up Ocean Avenue they went, with hundreds of people falling in behind at every block. By the time Drum Major Geoffrey Baldwin made the half-right turn at Mountain View he was being followed by well over 1,000 marchers.

The Forest Theater filled to overflowing and there were people in trees and all around the area listening to the bagpipes and watching the colorful formations. For two hours the pines and oaks rang with the ancient sounds of the fierce Celtic people. Then the band marched back down Ocean Avenue, once again followed by hundreds and hundreds of marchers.

The event, sponsored by the "Scotch" Committee, is another S-P-O-F-I-C activity of the citizens of Carmel-by-the-Sea. Totally self-financed, all the committee requested from the city was the use of the Forest Theater and a parade permit.

Arts Commission Lists Sunday Program

The Carmel Arts Commission announces its last presentation of Summer season this Sunday at the Forest Theater.

The program will open with the Fort Ord Soldiers' Chorus. Following will be selection of Hungarian and gypsy music by Elizabeth Du-Val, noted Hungarian violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Camille Oleata. The finale will be provided by the fine Patricia Ramsey Ballet Group.

The event, which is open to the public, starts at 2 p.m.

City Planning Commission Examines Parking, Gas Station

The Carmel City Planning Commissioners had a busy week. They first met on Tuesday at 3 p.m. for a 90-minute walk around the fringes of the business district to inspect the problems concerned with off-street parking. They then returned to City Hall for further discussion of the problem, taking another hour.

The Commission reconvened Wednesday for the regular session. Sitting as a board of adjustment, the planners agreed to permit the Carmel Citizens' Committee to have their sign at Ocean Ave. and Dolores for another year. Two other matters were dealt with by the adjustment board, but continued until later meetings. A piece of property on the west side of Scenic Drive was studied for the possibility of subdividing it into four sections, but the board told a representative of the owners, Col. and Mrs. Philip Schneeberger, that he should bring in a plot plan showing present building locations.

The knotty problems concerning the parking lot projected for Carmel Presbyterian Church, on Junipero between Mountain View and Eighth St., were first dealt with by the Board of Adjustment. The board had to continue the request for rezoning of the property to allow a parking lot, then adjourned as a Board of Adjustment to reconvene as the Planning Commission. As such, the planners learned that petitions, representing over 50% of the property in the affected area, had been presented in favor of the church's request. The commission recommended approval of the lot.

When a discussion of a revised ordinance arose concerning setbacks of long walls for hotels, motels and multiple dwellings, Admiral C. W. Fisher said he felt this was only a first step, but a very important first step. He said it was his opinion that Carmel residents felt the city is already too far commercialized, particularly as regards hotels and motels. He stated that residents, voters and taxpayers do not want to see Car-

Boy Scouts Plan Retreat Aug. 30

Scouters of the Monterey Bay Area Council met recently with Assistant Scout Executive William J. Lidderdale at the Casa Munras in Monterey to finalize plans for the annual Scouter's Retreat. The retreat is to be held Aug. 30 through Sept. 2 at Pico Blanco Scout Reservation.

This annual affair is for all Scouters and families including grandma and the little toddler; a vacation close at home with a far-away atmosphere.

Fees do not include camping equipment or transporation. Each family must be in charge of an adult not less than 21 years of age, who must remain in residence.

Carmel High Grad Honored at Fort Ord

Private Michael D. Dunham, a 1961 graduate of Carmel High School, recently completed basic combat training with Fort Ord's Company A, 3rd Battalion, 3rd Brigade with distinguished honors as one of the "outstanding trainees" of the eight-week training cycle.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Daryal A. Dunham of Monterey, the 22 year-old trainee entered the Army in May of this year.

He has been assigned to advanced infantry training at Fort Jackson, S. C. after which he will become a member of the special forces. Prior to entering the Army, Dunham was employed as a commerical fisherman in Monterey.

Feathers... From the Shaft

No. 21

By Harry the Fletcher

It's a lovable trait in a man who can wait for his wife to get dressed for a party. He is most well behaved when he's showered and shaved and doesn't make cracks like a smarty.

As she liesurely preens (while he sizzles and steams) he keeps his emotions abated, and puffs on his smoke, though he's ready to choke, and acts like its fun to have waited.

Unfortunately, though, I am not like this Joe, I'm full of remarks most sarcastic, and pace up and down with a grimace and frown and other sly taunts just as drastic.

She says not a word till I finally herd the two of us out to the flivver; and then she'll discover one thing and another to give me a horrible shiver.

The impossible me has forgotten the key to the car, and my shoes are unpolished; but when she incants I've forgotten my pants — my world is completely demolished.

While any mere male will agree with my tale, I have to be quite realistic — we drive down the street, then she'll suddenly shriek she has to go back for her lip stick!

PINE NEEDLES RETURN

This week the PINE CONE revives a great tradition from the pages of its own former issues. On another page of this paper readers will find the title, "Pine Needles."

This section, containing sometimes sharp, but always interesting items, was not in the first issue of the PINE CONE. It appeared for the first time in the second issue, dated February 10, 1915, and appeared regularly until quite recently.

Since revivals are occasions calling for recollections, here are a few other things that were mentioned in that issue:

Mr. C. O. Goold was advertising Autos For Hire — "All drives or by the hour." He also did livery, hauling, storage, and sold hay and grain. At the Manzanita Moving Picture Theatre John Fleming Wilson was starring in "The Master Key." Admission was 10c and 20c. At the bottom of the editorial column was the statement, "Pave Ocean Avenue."

A story on the front page which opposed the division of California into two separate states (because of fear the prohibition voters of southern counties would vote the whole state dry) contained this statement: "But one glance at the school statistics of the southern part of the state, particularly Los Angeles, will convince the most skeptical that the stork has done good work in the southland."

Some things change. Others NEVER do.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY DON MARSHALL

Bob, the eager youngster who works in our shop, brought me a cup of the instant cow-killer he calls coffee the other day and it reminded me of a story I heard once that has given me much pleasure since. It's probably not true, but if it is false I hope it is never proved to me. It's that kind of story.

Seems that a few years ago, when science and sanitation were just beginning to teach us that all the things we used to think of as fun were bad for us, the forces of cleanliness got around to the sugar bowls that used to sit on the tables of restaurants. "Terrible," they said, "Open sugar bowls tempt youngsters to dunk their dampened digits. Besides," they added, "the flies carry evil germs about with them."

Well anyhow, the heads of the sugar industry knew when they were licked. There is no force more terrifying on earth that that of aroused females on a crusade. They capitulated. They made up little sugar lumps and wrapped them in paper. The forces of purity and virtue crowed their triumph and went off with a gleam in the eye, pruriently seeking new evil to battle.

But the problem was not so easily solved. After a few weeks of sitting on restaurant tables, wrapped in their virginal raiment, the little cubes began to blacken. Customers rebelled at black sugar lumps. Sugar sales fell off. The more daring cafe keepers brought out the old sugar bowls and "bootlegged" loose sugar. If there was one thing the sugar industry didn't want, so the story goes on, it was the return of the militant campaigners against untidy sweets.

As the narrative was given to me, the industry spent vast amounts trying to stop the cubes from darkening, all to no avail. Panic began to mount. Already incidents were reported here and there. It seemed the murky cubes were to darken the whole industry.

Then the hero of this tale appeared on the scene. (His name was never mentioned to me.) He could, he said, solve the problem, but he feared the lesson of the Pied Piper. He wanted to assure that his erudition would not go unrewarded. His terms: a cool $100,000 would be placed in a bank mutually acceptable. He would give them the solution in one sentence. If it worked he got the cash, they took it back if it didn't.

Well, the industry got together and put up the scratch. Then he told them. . . "Put a small tear, about an eighth of an inch long, in the piece of paper used to wrap each cube."

It worked! Our anonymous hero got the money and to this day there is a small tear in the paper used to wrap sugar cubes.

As I say, the story may be completely false. If you know it is, please don't tell me.

WHERE THERE'S LIFE

By Andre Hope

Say "Cheese," please — Howard Brunn - Mary M. Semple

Now that we have spent millions of dollars to prove that the moon is not, after all, made of green cheese, perhaps we should look closer to home. The last days of summer are made of cheese. At least they lend themselves to meals encompassing same. Where better to find it than in Carmel? There is the cheese department in the "Entrepot", which features as well a perfect accompaniment for snacking -- pumpernickel and onion breads from the Solvang Danish Bakery. Ben Updyke's meat market at Kip's purveys a soft jack cheese with a delicate tang and a New York Martin cream cheddar, which is perfect for noodle mixtures, cheese-ncrackers and rarebits; properly called Welsh Rabbits for a very good reason. It seems that when the Welsh hunters went out a-rabbit poaching their skeptical wives were preparing toasted cheese for supper, just in case. Around our menage when the gentlemen go out fishing for supper, we refer to it as Carmel kippers.

The Mediterranean Market supplies seductive cheeses for fruit such as Port Salut and Bel Paese. There you can also have your romano or parmesan freshly ground for pasta and a plethora of other uses.

As for cheese recipes there is a masculine salad which combines diced sharp and mild cheeses, cel-

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin-Thornburg, City Librarian

Communication sometimes breaks down even in a small library such as this one, and so it is that until this summer I was not aware of a peculiar thing which has been happening every year for some years. We subscribe to a reference book called Writer's Market which is published yearly and is of great value in a community of writers. It seems that for several years now, our new Writer's Market has disappeared almost at once from the reference shelves and the issue from the year before has been carefully returned to the location from which it was snatched some twelve months earlier. Now this seems to be evidence that there is a person using the library who is badly in need of psychiatric help. To so ignore the rights and needs of the rest of the community and calmly take for himself a year's use of a valuable reference tool is certainly evidence that something is wrong with his thinking. Gentle Reader, if you are this person, RUN not walk to the nearest analyst!!! But first, bring back our new Writer's Market.

All new books this week are non-fiction, a shocking state of affairs to some but highly pleasing to others. We have loads of novels on order, but in the mismatched life we are living, none of them came through for this week.

We do have two new cookbooks, both rather specialized. The one is called The Ulcer Diet Cook Book and it was written by Harold Rubin, a man interested in cooking. He was aided and abetted by a doctor named Franz Lust, which is probably a very good thing, ulcers being rather more in a doctor's sphere than that of a mere culinary practitioner. The recipes look tasteworthy and might be found salubrious even before the ulcer cometh.

The other cookbook is one which should be of extreme value to any really busy person, such as you. The book is entitled The Instant Epicure Cookbook and it is filled with recipes for gourmet dishes which can be prepared in a trice, or some such period of time. Even if it takes you a little longer, these recipes certainly read delicious. This is a book I am going to buy for my own kitchen collection. Oh yes, the author is Lillian Langseth-Christensen. They say the greatest chefs in the world have always been men, but somehow a woman-type cookbook is more satisfying to a woman-type cook.

A new biography of Westbrook Pegler is by Oliver Pilat and is entitled Pegler, Angry Man of the Press. It is the life story of a man who angried himself right out of a good job and the friendship of most of his colleagues.

Divorce and You is by a California lawyer names Walter Winter and is said to be essential reading for anyone contemplating a divorce. As we read the newspapers it seems that a great many persons are in that catagory,so the book should sell well.

The G-I Joe of World War II was the Doughboy of the first World War and Laurence Stallings knew both of them. He now lives in Whittier, California, and from this vantage point he has been remembering and writing down his remembrances. His resulting book is called The Doughboys, The Story of the AEF, 1917-1918. It is illustrated with great photographs. Well worth your while, this one!

OBITUARIES

Col. William Henry

Col. William R. Henry (USA) ret), a well known resident of Carmel for the past 18 years, died Aug. 20, 1963 at his home, Santa Lucia and Monte Verde Streets. While Col. Henry had been under medical care, his death was unexpected.

He had been in the restaurant business most of his life, and was at one time supervisor for the Mayflower Restaurant chain on the Eastern seaboard. He was a member of the New York City Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are: His wife, Mrs. Mary Fee of Big Sur; a daughter, Mrs. Janet Clark of Palmdale; three brothers, Robert Fee of Carmel Valley, David and Hugh Fee of Rhode Island; a step-brother, Jack Baird of Rhode Island; and an aunt, Mrs. Janet Klenke of Big Sur.

N. E. Strum

Norman Edward Strum, a resident of Carmel for the past eight years, died Aug. 15, 1963 in the Community Hospital after an extended illness.

Mr. Strum, a native of Coronado, was born July 9, 1904.

Before retiring and coming to make his home in La Loma Terrace, Carmel, he was associated with the Valley Wholesale Drug Co. of Stockton.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Agnes Marie Strum, and a daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Strum Dennison, both of Carmel; a sister, Mrs. Bertha Wright of Santa Cruz; and a brother, Roy G. Strum of Auburn.

Auto Crash Kills Local Man, Companion

Edward Cunningham Clark, 23, of Carmel, and Leilani Wojinski, 19, of San Francisco died this week at Community Hospital from injuries received when the sports car in which they were riding struck a power pole on Rio Road near Carmel Saturday night. California Highway Patrol officers could offer no cause for the accident. According to their reports, Clark was Westbound on Rio Road 201 feet East of Mission Fields road at 11:20 p.m. Saturday. Officers said the car struck a rock embankment while making a right turn.

Officers said the car left the road, and Clark apparently lost control. The car broad-slid across the street, took out four mail boxes and then struck a power pole. The impact spun the car around the pole, where it stopped, facing the direction from which it had come.

The Red Cross Ambulance operated by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department was summoned and Clark and Miss Wojinski were taken to Community Hospital where officials said 54 pints of blood were used in an effort to save their lives.

Edward Cunningham Clark, 23, was born Feb. 23, 1940, in Seattle, Wash. A veteran of military service, he was discharged last year from service in the Army following duty in Germany, and came with his family in October to live in Rancho Rio Vista, Carmel Valley.

He was employed at a service station at the mouth of Carmel Valley.

Surviving are: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie G. Clark Jr., a sister, Miss Sallie Abbott Clark, and a brother, Laurance Cunningham Clark, all of Carmel; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Edward Cunningham of Seattle.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Edward Clark may do so to the Community Hospital Building Fund, Box HH, Carmel.

2 Robberies, Plus 1 Attempt Here

Last week two robberies and one attempted robbery were committed on Dolores St. in Carmel.

Mason's clothing store and the Silver Thimble were entered with a loss of cash. No vandalism was reported. An unsuccessful attempt was made on the Su Vecino.

An investigation is being made by the Carmel Police Department.

Billy Thompson Home After Summer Mishap

Billy Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thompson of Carmel, is home this week from the hospital in Reno. While riding in a boat pulling water skiers on Lake Tahoe, where the family was vacationing, Bill's foot became entangled with a rope. The rope wound around the drive shaft of the in-board and pulled his foot against the housing. He was first taken to the hospital in Truckee, and then to Reno, but all efforts to save the first and second toes on his right foot failed, and they had to be amputated.

He will be pleased to see his friends from junior high, and from Carmel Little League. He played first base and pitched for Turner-McEldowney, and was awarded a certificate of merit and achievement at the Little League barbecue in July.

Early Registration At Schools Is Urged

Parents of students new to the Carmel Unified School District are urged to call the junior high and make arrangements for early registration of their students, according to Dr. Walter Klas, Principal. This will enable the students and parents to have more time for the answering of questions and explanation of course offerings.

Since junior high students have a good choice of elective subjects it is helpful to both students and school counselors for time to be available for discussion of courses. Parents may call the school at any time from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for appointments.

Students new to the school will need gym suits and these are available at Gladys McCloud's for the girls and at the Sport Shop for boys. The Sugar and Spice Shop in the valley will also handle girls uniforms.

Enrollment for the 1963-64 year is expected to reach 600 students. Class schedules for students previously enrolled in Carmel Schools will be mailed to parents during the week of Sept. 3.

No Fault Named in Car-Truck Prang

Last Monday afternoon the N. B. Flower Shop delivery truck driven by Max Robert Kuther of 1054 Portola Dr., Monterey, collided with a car driven by Therese De Bernardi of Burlingame, at the intersection of Monte Verde and 13th. Kuther said he was driving on Monte Verde at about 15 miles per hour. He did not see the other car until he started to cross the intersection. Miss Bernardi said she was also traveling at approximately 15 miles per hour on 13th. Though Kuther did not think the other car would hit him, he stated, it caught his right rear bumper and spun him around, turning the truck on its side. He suffered an abrasion on his left elbow and refused medical treatment. Neither Miss Bernardi nor her companion, Miss Pauline Dibb of Seattle, suffered any injury. The truck was badly damaged.

Police say it was impossible to detect who, if anyone, was at fault.

We are proud to announce the arrival at the former Miss Heidi McCormick's home of 16 blue booties and 12 pink ones. As far as we figure, that makes seven dachsie pups, four boys and three girls. We are particularly pleased as the father is Brandy, one of the authors of this column. Hi, Heidi!

A newcomer in Carmel is Pierre, a standard black poodle, who lives with Don Marshall, our new publisher. Seems that Mr. Marshall is quite an animal lover. He once shared an apartment in Mexico City with a sweet little 50-pound pussy cat named Fitz. He was purchased from an Indian for $11. We might add this is no kind of cat for the likes of us to give anything but the greatest respect and a wide berth. He happened to be an ocelot by profession. We would have shared something in common, however, as he also had sophisticated tastes. His favorite toy was a fronton ball, mink made him amorous and he loved the smell of perfume, shaving lotions and other exotic things, such as a warm friendship for the great entertainer Miss Josephine Baker. Eventually he made his home with the son of a Mexican general in Cuautla — Morelos, and was last seen chasing an iguana across a ravine. As we understand it, an iguana is something else with which we wouldn't care to tangle.

Heard a very interesting tip when being read to from Dr. Miller's column the other day. Pet owners should put a strip of flourescent tape on their friends' collars. This makes them easier to find if they are being looked for at night and if they should be the wandering kind, motorists are warned in time to avoid them.

Another good one. Never touch any wild baby thing if you expect its mother to reclaim it. This is also a good idea in case it happens to have teeth!

Mystery Photo Subject Named

The subject of last week's Mystery Photo was Mrs. Anne Weeks. She was a very young child when the picture was taken. She says that if she has changed since then, so has the Pine Inn's courtyard.

Since there was no one who could name Mrs. Weeks, she will receive the bottle of Weibel Crackling Rose wine. The wine was donated by Mr. Ken Hardy, district supervisor for Weibel Incorporated.

Space Workshop Set For Teachers

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Spacemobile will be a part of the NASA workshop scheduled for all Monterey County teachers on Aug. 27 at Washington Junior High School.

The Spacemobile is a traveling science lecture-demonstration, designed to acquaint communities with the space sciences and their relation to the American space program.

The Spacemobile is contained in a panel truck driven by science lecturers who give a 50-minute demonstration.

Donovan Fandre and Kenneth E. Howard, both former teachers, will accompany the Spacemobile and give the presentation to workshop participants.

Teachers attending the workshop, which is sponsored by the Monterey County Office of Education, will have an opportunity to preview the Spacemobile before it visits elementary and high schools throughout the county in November and December.

Models in the Spacemobile illustrate the evolution of rockets and spacecraft including Mercury, which first took American man into orbital flight; Gemini, the two man spacecraft being readied for flight in 1964; and Apollo, the manned lunar vehicle.

Invitations to the NASA workshop have been sent to all teachers in Monterey County by Tom O'Connor, coordinator of community educational resources, Monterey County Office of Education.

Gymkhana Set At Carmel Rancho

The Carmel Rancho Shopping Center is the setting chosen for a Gymkhana, to be held by the Pebble Beach Sports Car Club on Sunday, Aug. 25th. This will be one of the regular monthly events staged by the local club's 115 members in various locations both on and off the Monterey Peninsula.

Approximately 47 sports cars will take part, competing individually for best performance on a track blocked off in the shopping center's east area. Starting time is scheduled for 11 a.m. and windup time is anticipated for approximately 4 p.m. Stanchions will be erected for the gallery. The public is invited to attend, with no admission charge.

Bishop Kip School Tells Plans For Sept. 10 Opening

Plans for the Bishop Kip School's third year are just about completed, with enrollment of at least 90 expected in kindergarten through sixth grade classes when school opens September 10, Rev. Peter Farmed, Headmaster, said this week.

The school, which operated during its first two years at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel, is moving this month to larger quarters in the former Medical Annex of Community Hospital.

A parents meeting will be held at the school Monday, August 19, at 7:30 p.m. Reverend Farmer said, adding that enrollment this year includes youngsters from Monterey, Carmel, Carmel Valley, Del Monte Forest, Pacific Grove, La Mesa Village, Seaside, Del Rey Oaks and Carmel Meadows.

Classes in four grades are being added to the Bishop Kip School program, with new classes spanning third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The kindergarten class will be taught by Mrs. Russell Kellerman, who has been on the staff of the Bishop Kip School since February. Veteran teacher Mrs. George Faser will continue in charge of first grade.

Miss Evelyn Smith, who taught second grade at the Kip School last year, will teach the fifth and sixth grade classes. A graduate of Oregon State College, Miss Smith has taught for twelve years in California and Oregon. She is completing work toward a master's degree.

Decision on a teacher for the third and fourth grade classes will be made shortly by the school's board of trustees, Reverend Farmer said.

While the school is moving into a new building, Reverend Farmer added, "we are still continuing the search for a permanent site, if possible near the mouth of Carmel Valley."

"We feel very strongly about the values of our kind of school," he added. "Piety cannot excuse poor teaching. A church school must, first of all, impart sound academic skills, serious attitudes toward learning, and good study habits. But good teaching can be shot through with grace, in purpose and motivation for learning and in the daily relationship with the school community."

The Bishop Kip School's address and headquarters will continue to be at All Saints' Church, Dolores and Ninth Streets, Carmel.

The main entrance for the new school will be on the Torres Street side of the building, located between Santa Fe and Camino del Monte.

JUNE BRAUCHT TO BE SPEAKER

On Wednesday, August 28, at 3 p.m. at The Carmel Foundation Town House, Mrs. June Braucht, Secretary of The American Federation of Art, will tell of that organization's activities and services and will bring samples of the types of exhibits that are shown in their gallerys at various times. She will also give information about the many workshops and classes led by outstanding artists, brought to Carmel by A.F.A.

Victor Borge on his recent appearance in Monterey

Smorgas-Borge

Victor Borge's large following of enthusiastic fans will be delighted with the new program he will present at the Monterey Fairgrounds Concert Arena on Wednesday, Sept. 11th.

This year Mr. Borge has a witty foil in the person of Leonid Hambro. Mr. Hambro is a distinguished concert pianist, regularly appearing with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. He is now on a leave of absence from the orchestra to appear with Mr. Borge. He freely admits that although playing the classics with the Philharmonic is a wonderful experience and an artistic challenge, he enjoys the sheer fun he has with Victor.

He is introduced by Mr. Borge as being a long lost early pupil of his, and they sit sedately at two concert grand pianos, prepared to demonstrate Mr. Borge's teaching ability. This is the last serious gesture they make, as they try to outwit each other in hilarious comedy antics with classics which have made Victor Borge world famous.

One reason for the continuing success of Victor Borge is that he has a genuine knowledge and a deep love for the finest in music and his humor conveys a real affection for that which he lampoons. Unique in his field, Victor Borge plays both on the sensibilities and risibilities of his audience, encouraging them to laugh at themselves with him.

A Shell For Music

An Accoustical Shell is being shipped from Connecticut for Leonard Bernstein's New York Philharmonic Concert at the Monterey County Fairgrounds on Aug. 31 at 8:30 p.m. The Shell incorporates many radically new sound concepts in its fibreglass design. The same model was rented to the government for one of Mrs. Kennedy's White House lawn concerts. However, it met with such enthusiastic praise that the government actually purchased the shell.

The Monterey Concert of the New York Philharmonic will open with Brahms' "Fourth Symphony." Mr. Bernstein will also conduct Tchaikovsky's "Francesca de Rimini" and Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite." Remaining concert tickets and reserved parking tickets coupons are still on sale at Abinante Music in Monterey. Concert tickets only are on sale in Carmel, at Central Boxoffice; Salinas, Gadsby Music and Allen-Smith pianos in Santa Cruz.

Padre Trails Camera Club announced today the names of winners at the last club contest. Color slide contest winners were: 1st place, Dr. Willis Basye; 2nd place, Phillip B. Smith; 3rd place, Kay Chase; 4th place, Barbara Curley. In addition, the judges awarded honorable mention to slides submitted by Dan Redmon, Virginia K. Smith, Barbara Curley, and Phillip B. Smith. Black & White print winners were: 1st place, Barbara Mackenzie; 2nd place, Col. E. L. Modlin.

Judges for the evening were Chester W. Smith, recently returned from a year in Europe, and Rear Admiral Jess Forsyth. Over 60 persons attended the meeting, including six guests.

Juliet Burkett Weds R. L. Hooker, Jr. At St. Matthew's in San Mateo

Last Friday, August 16, Miss Juliet Ann Burkett became the bride of Rodman L. Hooker, Jr. in a 4:00 p.m. ceremony at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in San Mateo. The ceremony, in a setting of white flowers and candelabra, was performed by the Rev. Lesley Wilder Jr. and the Rev. Harvey Buck of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Church in Pacific Grove.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Burkett of Pebble Beach. Mr. Burkett is the President of Security National Bank of Monterey County. She wore a gown of imported pure silk ivory peau de soie with an empress waistline and short-sleeved bolero of guipure lace with portrait neckline. A band of fresh flowers secured her chapel length veil and she carried a bouquet of tuberoses and lilies of the valley.

Juliet's maid of honor was her sister, Katherine Burkett. Bridesmaids were the bridsgroom's sister, Anne Walker, and three former Mills College classmates of the bride; Linda Dyer, Florence Owens and Lynn Williams. They wore willow green faille sheath dresses with matching head pieces in the shape of large French roses. They carried blue delphinium with bachelor buttons.

The groom's brother, Michael Hooker, was best man and the ushers were Dwight Cochran Jr., David Dodge, Steve Ferrand and William Marr.

The reception was held at the Burlingame Country Club in a setting of white camellia trees and cascades of greens with white turberoses and begonias.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse of Pebble Beach, the grandparents of the groom and Mrs. Myron Hayward of Omaha and Carmel, the grandmother of the bride.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Kenneth Walker of La Jolla and R. Lent Hooker of Hillsborough. He is a graduate of Cate and has attended Menlo School of Business Administration for the past two years.

After a honeymoon in Bermuda the couple will reside in Los Angeles where both will attend the University of Southern California.

LAW IN ACTION

RES IPSA LOQUITUR

John owned a cabin and some mountain timber land. Now and then the lumber company next to his place would cut some of its timber using a tractor, chain saw, or other heavy equipment.

One summer a forest fire burned much of the company's land and equipment. It spread to John's place and burned down his cabin and timber.

Had the lumber company's carelessness started the fire? John really didn't know. But he sued the company anyway, saying that it must have started the fire.

Though a person lacks direct evidence to prove his case, the court in special kinds of cases allows the jury to "infer" lack of due care from certain facts.

This inference rests on the rule of "res ipsa loquitur." In Latin law this means: "The thing speaks for itself." Like jam on a child's face.

Under the circumstances you have a right to believe that the event could not have happened in any other way. If it did, it is up to the defendant to show how.

For this doctrine to apply one must show several things:

First that the particular injury could hardly have happened unless someone was at fault. Though forest fires may start from lightening or unknown causes, it is generally believed that someone's carelessness starts most of them.

Second, for the doctrine to apply, the thing that did the harm must be under the defendant's control, and therefore he was at fault. The jury can infer that the defendant caused the fire if his tractors shot out sparks, if they had no spark arresters on them, or if the defendant did other things which could have started the fire.

Third, the plaintiff himself must show that he was not at fault himself for the events that harmed him. Otherwise, no damages.

The defendant can answer the inference that he is at fault by showing that the injury was unusual and might have just as well have happened otherwise. He may also show that he alone was not in control at the time of the injury.

Res ipsa loquitur is a sort of circumstantial evidence: Since somebody must have done the harm, and one and only one person or outfit could have done it, it follows that he is to blame.

Educator Tells Lions Club About His World Trip

The Carmel Lions Club, at its regular meeting Tuesday evening, once again heard a report by Dr. Henry Hart, an authority on Chinese literature, a world traveler and a member of the faculty of the University of California.

Dr. Hart delivered his impressions gathered on his latest trip around the world, which took him to Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore, Colombo, Bombay, Karachi, Aden, Suez, Cairo, Rome and London.

It was an occasion for both the Lions and Dr. Hart, since this was the fourteenth time the scholar has addressed the group.

While Honolulu was found by Dr. Hart to be not unlike Los Angeles, he said he found Japan to be a very busy place, with much industry. He said he did, however, encounter some anti - American feelings there.

Dr. Hart said he first saw Hong Kong in 1919, and found it difficult to converse with the natives. Now there are many refugees there from the northern provinces of China, though, and he found no trouble at all in learning the feeling of the residents. While many of them dislike Chaing Kai Chek they all appear to agree that he is the only leader of China at present, he added. Interestingly, Dr. Hart said he felt that the present situation of Hong Kong is necessary to the Reds on the mainland since, for example, many silk garments come from Hong Kong, but all the silk textile mills are on the mainland.

What has happened to Manila since the war was very disappointing to Dr. Hart. There are many slums there now, particularly behind the cathedral, and in general the country is far worse off now than when it was under the control of the United States, he said. He was told that most American aid ends up in the famed numbered bank accounts in Switzerland.

Other opinions of the educator were that Ceylon was very sad and ridden with racial problems concerning the influx of Tamil people, India is indescribably filthy with over 100,000 people sleeping in the streets of Bombay, Pakistan is about the same but 50 years behind India, Aden is a well-run British colony which is tense because of the proximity to the fighting in Yemen and the Egyptians have put foodlights and loudspeakers in front of the Sphinx and the pyramids.

Dr. Hart also said he felt the French were solidly behind De Gaulle, whom, the doctor believes, felt snubbed when President Kennedy passed him by on his recent trip to Europe.

On his return to New York, Dr. Hart said he was struck by the discontent among the great material wealth in this country.

Spokane Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ross of Carmel were in Spokane, Wash., last weekend for the wedding of Mary Lou Berg and their son, Craven Edwin Ross. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Berg of Yakima Wash.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony took place Aug. 10 at 8 p.m. in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Wash., with Rev. Thomas Howarth officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie twill gown with a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and chapel train. A pearl coronet held her illusion veil, and she carried a white orchid surrounded by white roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Kent Matteson, and the bridesmaids, Mary J. Beyersdorf of Spokane, Wash., Mrs. John Sampson of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Robert Gingrich of Rosalia, wore identical gowns of gold silk taffeta, and carried white chrysanthemums.

Best man was John Sampson of Los Angeles. Ushers were Robert M. Ross of Carmel, brother of the bridegroom, Gary Nielsen and Merle Pittman of Santa Clara.

The newlyweds will live in Yakima, where Craven will be connected with a new branch of the Aetna Insurance Company. A Carmel High School graduate, he attended Oregon State University. He is a grandson of Mrs. Henry Ross of Fresno and Santa Cruz, and the late Mr. Ross; and of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Mitchell of Fresno.

ery, lettuce, green onions, hard-boiled eggs and both black and green olives; sluice it with either Italian dressing, vinaigrette or thinned mayonnaise with a dash of prepared mustard. A fine family potage can be made by mixing together equal portions of condensed tomato and cheddar cheese soup, diluted with milk and topped with chives or chopped green onion tops. Another combination is onion and cheese soup. If you're given up on what else to serve with the weekly frankfurters, try Welsh rabbit soup; cheese soup with beer, preferably flat, replacing the given amount of liquid, a splash of wrchestwhat and a dash of red pepper or hot sauce added. Use popcorn in place of croutons. If you're inclined toward erotica or exotica use champagne or dry white wine as the liquid. A sandwich that can be served any time of day is Croque Monsieur. Butter slices of trimmed white bread, place a slice of ham and a slice of Swiss cheese between and tie with a string. Dip in lightly beaten egg and cream and saute the sandwiches in butter over a medium flame until golden brown and cheese is melted. Discard string and serve hot. They can make an entire light meal if covered with mushroom, tomato or chicken gravy and served with salad and wine. Don't forget cheese blintzes slathered with sour cream and tart jam or jelly. There's the best of all pasta, noodles tossed with whipping cream, melted butter and lots of fresh grated cheese. Then, finish the day or the night with a combination of cheeses and slightly chilled fruits (never too cold or the finest nuance of the flavor is gone), a few nuts to be cracked at table and a gently sweet wine. Happy cheese dreams!

Steaks at Stake

Saturday at 10 a.m. in the livestock ring at the Monterey County Fair, the annual Junior Livestock Auction will be held. 4-H and FFA members from throughout the area will be putting their beef, sheep, and swine on the proverbial "block" as buyers, satisfied yearly with the sale's high quality, bid for the predominantly blue ribbon meat.

Auctioneer Art Bayer will again call the auction of farm youth's hand-fed animals. Senator Fred Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee are expected to once again take bids as part of their annual support of the event.

Buyers include businesses, meat companies, and families who have experienced the advantages from standpoints of both economy and quality, of purchasing meat "on the hoof." And you, too?

Salute to Salad

The one millionth carload of lettuce rolled out of California's Salinas Valley — the salad bowl of the world — Aug. 20 bound for New York where the entire carload will be sold at auction with the proceeds going to the American Red Cross.

In the mechanically refrigerated car were 1100 specially printed cartons containing some 26,000 heads of carefully selected iceberg (head) lettuce donated by the 400 members of the Grower Shipper Vegetable Association of Central California. The association represents growers and shippers of fresh vegetables in the Monterey-Santa Cruz-San Benito County areas.

Today's one millionth carload in the ultra modern PFE mechanical reefer was a far cry from the first shipment of iced lettuce which left the Salinas Valley in 1921, which ended in disaster when the car ran out of ice before reaching its destination.

The very chore of icing that first car gave birth to an anecdote still going around Salinas. It is said the growers' order for ten cakes of ice was doubted by the owner of the local ice plant. He thought the order must have meant ten pounds, and insisted upon seeing the car before delivering the ice.

Within a few years, however, there were no doubts about the demands on ice production. Before the advent of mechanical vacuum coolers, Salinas made and used more ice than the city of New York.

Americans are eating more ice cream. Ice cream production in the U. S. for June was estimated at 71,620,000 gallons, says the Crop Reporting Board, 1% higher than a year ago and for the five year average.

Russia, the larger producer of creamery butter, turned out 1.8 billion pounds in 1962, up 6% from 1961.

"Creative Mind" Forum Set At Asilomar Sept. 13-15

Some of America's most original creative minds in the arts and sciences will meet September 13-15 at Asilomar, on the Monterey peninsula, to explore the problems faced by the creative individual in a world of increasing conformity.

The three-day conference, "Eyes West 1963," is designed to provide a forum for a wide-ranging interchange of ideas on questions of concern to artists, graphic designers and illustrators, architects, photographers, art educators and students, scientists and members of other professions in which creativity is the basis for achievements. The conference is presented by University of California Extension in cooperation with the Artists and Art Directors Club of San Francisco.

Among the topics to be covered in informal talks and small group discussions are the pervasive influence of the mass media today, the creative person's need for self-expression and originality, and the obstacles to creativity in a society characterized by diminishing cultural diversity.

Prominent conference participants are architect R. Buckminster Fuller, designer of geodesic structures, speaking on "Design Strategy"; writer photographer Gordon Parks, discussing "People, Art, Photography"; Sir Robert Watson-Watt, inventor or radar, "On Observing the Obvious"; biologist and microphotographer Roman Vishniac, "Wellsprings of Creativity", and Eugene S. Hallman, programming vice-president of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, "Problems of the Artist in Broadcasting."

Also scheduled to speak are designer - illustrator Milton Glaser; John Hubley, winner of a 1963 Academy Award for his animated film "The Hole"; architect and painter Serge Chermayeff; Thomas Hess, executive editor of "Art News" magazine; psychoanalyst Albert Lubin; and Glenn Wessels, artist, designer and professor of art at the University of California, Berkeley.

"Eyes West 1963" is the second biennial West Coast conference for artists and designers. Originated in 1961, the meetings offer participants an opportunity to explore fresh perspectives on their work and to benefit from contact with creative minds in many fields of activity.

Conference chairman for "Eyes West 1963" is Curtis Fields, art director of Guild, Bascom and Bonfigli, San Francisco. Program moderators are Gurdon Woods, director of the San Francisco Art Institute; Daniel S. Defenbacher, director of communications, Raychem Corp; Jack Roberts, creative director for Carson Roberts, Inc.; and James Nelson, Jr., creative director, Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown.

Registration forms and detailed program information may be obtained from Liberal Arts Department, University of California Extension, Berkeley 4; telephone THornwall 5-6060 ext. 4487.

Arts Group Plans Judging for Members

Judging of applicants for membership in the Carmel Art Association by the board of directors will take place at a special meeting on Sept. 11.

Application is open to artists who have lived for the past year within a 35-mile radius of Carmel. Each must submit drawings and three paintings or sculptured works produced within the past two years.

Readings For Play

Carmel's Studio Restaurant and Theater has scheduled "Come Blow Your Horn", the hit Broadway comedy by Neil Simon, as the production to follow its current 6th summer musical season.

The play will be directed by Charles Thomas, well known peninsula director, who also directed last season's "Fallen Angels" and "The Glass Menagerie" at The Studio.

Director Thomas will hold readings for casting in the production on Sunday afternoon, August 25, starting at 2:30, at The Studio, Dolores between Ocean & 7th in Carmel. For further information, please phone MA 4-1661.

Two Dances Set At Beach Club

The Beach Club at Pebble Beach will be the setting for two dinner dances this week.

Thursday evening, Aug. 22, a junior sports dinner dance is to be held from seven until eight, with dancing from eight until eleven.

Awards in the Pebble Beach junior tennis championships and the junior El Toro regatta will be made at the dinner.

Friday night one of the regular summer series of dinner dances for Beach Club members is scheduled at the club. Reservations for both affairs may be made by calling Harry at MA 4-3811.

Mustangs and Music

The new National Horse Show arena on the Monterey County Fairgrounds will not, in its modernity, lend itself too fully to "Old Fashioned" Fair theme this year, however it is expected to be one of the primary attractions.

Completed just in time for May's Monterey Folk Festival, the "Horse Show" arena has not been used for its intended purpose to date. Equestrians will be trying its turf for the first time at afternoon and evening performances of the National Horse Show during the Fair.

A 220,000 dollar project, the new arena can be used for a variety of events. It has already housed a circus and in September will accomodate the Monterey Jazz Festival.

Designed, as it was with the National Horse Show in mind, official dedication will be made at Thursday night's show when Fair directors of years past will be present for the ceremony.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

Kaffe Fassett, Big Sur artist, is currently exhibiting his drawings at the Coast Gallery, Big Sur. A public reception for this well-known Sur Coast artist was held last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Fassett is among the more than fifty artists who display their works at the Coast Gallery, which represents Big Sur artists exclusively, and is open daily except Monday, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Mrs. La Verne M. Allen, curator, will continue Kaffe Fassett's exhibit through Aug. 30, at the gallery, located on Highway One, a few miles south of Big Sur. The gallery is housed in a rustic building, surrounded by a colorful and abundant growth of flowering shrubs, plants and trees, at the foot of the Santa Lucia Mountains over-looking the sea.

Edward Weston, world renowned photographer, and long-time resident of Carmel Highlands will be honored in a week-end seminar to be held at the Big Sur Hot Springs, Sept. 20-22, 1963.

During the seminar, which is entitled "The Eye of Edward Weston", distinguished leaders will conduct the discussion, among whom are Ansel Adams, a long-time friend of the late Mr. Weston, Imogen Cunningham, Jack Welpott, and Mr. Weston's son, Brett Weston, photographer.

Since his passing, a few years ago, the stature of Edward Weston has continued to increase. Artists and art, outside of America and outside the realm of photography have been influenced by his particular vision.

As his reputation grows his photographs become harder to see in the simplicity and clarity with which he made them.

The leaders of the seminar, themselves artists of note, will recall the man and the original impact of his photographs and will explore the nature of his influence.

"The Photographer," a movie about Edward Weston, will be shown Friday Night, Sept. 20th.

Lessons from the Big Sur Master plan, a discussion of the aims embodied in the Monterey County Coast Master Plan, will be held the week-end of Oct. 11-13 at the Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge. The lessons learned will be considered in relation to other areas in California that need creative land use planning.

Leading the discussions during the three day seminar will be: Fred S. Farr, state senator and chairman of the Senate Committee on Conservation and Planning, George S. Gatter, city planning consultant from San Francisco, Nicholas Roosevelt, conservationist, author and member of the State Recreation Committee and Wesley Ward, professor of architecture at California State Polytechnic College, San Luis Obispo.

For further information, reservations, fees, etc., for the "Eye of Edward Weston" seminar and the "Lessons From The Big Sur Master Plan" and other seminars, contact Big Sur Hot Springs Lodge, Big Sur (Telephone 2634). The lodge is located on Highway One, fifteen miles south of Pfeiffer State Park.

A wild boar, a lizard sunning on a log and an American Indian carved from redwood with a pocket knife are the works of Edward Branson, Jr. now on display at the Big Sur Bazaar, Big Sur. Mr. Branson, who lives and works on the El Sur Ranch, Big Sur, together with his wife and four children, is keenly aware of the living creatures and the dramatic beauty of the Sur country, and this is evidenced in his works of art currently on display. Although he has received no formal education in art, Mr. Branson "literally drew his way through school", he says. Presently he is taking a three-year Famous Artists Course from the school in Connecticut, and is seriously working to improve his technique. Mr. Branson chooses woods for his carvings that are well seasoned, preferably driftwood, and finds much pleasure and satisfaction in forming wild animals, horses, cowboys, Indians, he adds.

"Sur Mounts" and "Finger Frills" creations of Helen Polzin are displayed at the Big Sur Bazaar, together with crocheted bottle covers in the shape of French poodles. "Sur Mounts" are wildflowers of the Big Sur Area arranged in a small picture frame, under glass, to form an attractive picture. "Finger Frills" are finger paintings, on small note cards, available individually or in packages.

Mrs. Polzin's husband, Arthur Polzin, is with the park service at Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur. The Polzin's home is in Napa, but their spring and summer months, for the past two years, have been spent in Big Sur. Mr. Polzin is retired from the Mare Island Navy Yard. For a number of years Mrs. Polzin has been a certified sales organizer for the Mc Nees Products, a line of foods including spices, flavorings, pie and pudding fillings, etc., never sold in stores, but only through 'party plans' directly to consumers. Recently Mrs. Polzin gave such a 'party plan' party to interested residents in the area.

The works of Mr. Branson and Mrs. Polzin and many other Big Sur artists and craftsmen, are on display at the Big Sur Bazaar, situated on Highway One midway between Pfeiffer State Park and Coastlands, every day, except Monday, from 10:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. during the summer season.

Those placing works at the Bazaar establish the price of their individual pieces and each is sold on a consignment basis.

Mrs. Philip Johnson conceived the idea for the Bazaar and established it at its attractive location early this year.

Famed Scientists Visit

World famous scientists will be exposed to Peninsula hospitality when Monterey Mayor George Clemens extends the hand of friendship to delegates to the world's largest conference of scientists during a luncheon at Neptune's Table on Sunday, Aug. 25.

300 field trip delegates will view the Peninsula's scenic and historic features as a part of the Thirteenth General Assembly of the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics convening for two weeks on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, where 3,000 scientists from 61 countries are expected.

The union is formed of seven scientific associations, all devoted to studies of the earth, its oceans, atmosphere, and environments in space, and is largely responsible for initiating the International Geophysical Year.

The Berkeley meeting will be only the second meeting held in the United States since the union was established in Brussels in 1919.

Grand Prix Okayed

As of Aug. 16 an agreement between the Sports Car Racing Association of the Monterey Peninsula (SCRAMP) and the San Francisco Examiner cleared the way for international sanction of the Monterey Pacific Grand Prix Oct. 18-19-20.

The agreement, which must be formalized by contract, came about when Charles Gould, Examiner publisher, and Randolph Hearst, Hearst Publishing Company executive, came to Monterey August 10 to meet with SCRAMP President Robert Sherry and board member Ned Simpson.

The four men worked out a memorandum of agreement, and the SCRAMP executive board ratified the agreement today.

Specifically, the agreement provides:

1. Examiner promotional services at no cost to SCRAMP.

2. Examiner to put up $1,000 in prize money and a trophy, called Examiner cup, for overall winner of Grand Prix.

3. SCRAMP to remain sole sponsor of the events, the Examiner agreed to refrain from applying for sanction of the Grand Prix.

4. SCRAMP to handle procurement of drivers.

5. Examiner to cancel tentative stock car road race at Vaca Valley October 20, and agreed to refrain from conducting a stock car road race within two weeks of the Grand Prix.

6. Examiner to handle advance ticket sales.

7. The agreement is to last for the length of SCRAMP's lease with the U. S. Army (1967) for one race per year subject to review and cancellation by either party within 30 days after each event.

The international listing, which permits rated international drivers to compete, was withdrawn from the event July 1. This had the effect of breaking a three-way circuit of international races on the West Coast.

A telegram, setting into motion the application for an international date, was sent from Monterey by Sherry this morning. Word is expected from the FIA shortly.

SCRAMP instructed its attorney, Charles O'Gara, to prepare a document to formalize the agreement.

Music Workshop Planned in Salinas

A music workshop for primary classroom teachers is scheduled for Aug. 26-30 at Mission Park School, Salinas.

Sponsored by the Monterey County Office of Education, the workshop is designed to improve the teaching of music education by classroom teachers in the county.

The five phases of music education in California — listening, singing, instrumental playing, rhythm and creative — will be covered, according to Ed Coffin, County superintendent of schools.

Teachers in kindergarten through third grades in the county are invited to participate. No fee will be charged, and registration will be on the first day of the workshop.

Members of the County Office of Education assisting in the planning and conducting of the workshop are Miss Laura Lauritzen, coordinator of music education; Mrs. Heloise Spence, coordinator of elementary curriculum; William Pollard, director of coordination; and Mrs. Evelyn Logan, coordinator of health, physical education and recreation.

Music instructors from the Salinas City Schools assisting will be Mrs. Elaine Johnson, Mrs. Charlene Johnson and Miss Arduth Pueschel.

MPC Class Schedules Listed

The Fall schedule of courses to be offered in the Evening Division of Monterey Peninsula College, is now out, according to Dean John G. Schaub.

The brochure lists 106 tuition-free lower division college courses to be taught by 85 instructors during the semester beginning Monday Sept. 16.

Prospective students may obtain their copies of the course schedule by stopping at the Administration Building on campus.

The first of three English placement examinations will be given Thursday, Aug. 22, at 8:30 a.m. in the Armory on campus. The second is set for Thursday, Aug. 29, also at 8:30 a.m. in the Armory. The last exam will be given Wednesday, Sept. 4 at 7 p.m. in Room L-10. The examination is required for admission to English composition courses.

Four of the courses — one each in anthropology, philosophy, psychology and sociology — will be offered at Fort Ord. Information can be obtained at the Fort Ord Education Center.

The brochure also lists 10 upper division extension courses offered on the MPC campus by San Jose State College, and two courses offered by the University of California at Berkeley.

Hunter Safety Class Set

The hunter safety course prescribed by the Department of Fish and Game, will be given at the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store on South Main Street in Salinas, Thursday, Aug. 29. Youngsters who desire to attend must register in advance at the gun counter of the sport shop.

California state law requires that before any youngster who has not reached his or her 16th birthday may purchase their first hunting license, they must pass a hunter safety course prescribed by the Department of Fish and Game.

Dove season, a traditional favorite for the instruction of youngsters in the handling of a shotgun, opens Sunday, Sept. 1. Reports of excellent dove populations throughout northern California indicate the upcoming 30-day season will be one of the best in several years.

Hunter safety certificates will be issued immediately after the class to those youngsters that pass and who plan on going dove hunting on opening day.

James Neill Learns Tactics

NEWPORT, R. I. (FHTNC) — Navy Captain James S. Neill of Carmel, Calif., recently attended a two-week Naval Reserve Officers' Strategy and Tactics Instructors Seminar at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I. The course ended July 27.

Twenty-nine Reserve officers were selected throughout the U.S. to attend the course.

Graduates of the course are qualified to teach the military planning course to other Reserve officers in the Naval Reserve Officers' Schools within their own Naval Districts.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Senator Clair Engle (D—Calif.) is co-sponsor of new legislation designed to initiate Federal action to assure equal employment opportunities in businesses involved in interstate commerce.

He has joined Senator Hubert Humphrey (D.—Minn.) in introducing the Equal Employment Opportunity Act which would set up a new program to be administered by the U. S. Department of Labor.

"Our intent is to improve the Federal fair employment practices program by authorizing an administrator to study problem areas and initiate action to develop equal employment opportunities regardless of race, color or religion," Senator Engle said.

The bill would cover Federal agencies and government contractors, as well as businesses, labor organizations and employment agencies involved in interstate commerce.

"Experience indicates that we do not get full equality of employment opportunity when we have to rely on protests being filed by individuals here and there who encounter discrimination or unfair treatment," he explained.

Under the new bill, an administrator would be authorized to work with employers to review employment procedures of all kinds, including training, apprenticeship, job referrals, recruitment and advertising.

Senator Engle said, "Every aspect of the process of training and hiring and firing is involved in the question of whether or not every individual is equal when it comes to employment."

Reveal Program For Jazz Festival

The sixth Annual Monterey Jazz Festival has announced additional pleasures and facilities for its guests this year. Parking for 4000 cars will be available adjacent to the Monterey Fairgrounds, the scene of the action. An intricate hi-fi system assures perfect reception of the music to everyone seated in the new 7,100 seat main arena.

For the first time all seats for all performances are reserved and only those holding tickets will be admitted to the grounds. This added precaution is indicative of the special attention paid by the Festival committee to its guests to insure their thorough enjoyment of the event. Contrary to some statements which have been made, after six years of attendance to the event nothing untoward has taken place other than the usual high-spirited antics which prevail at any such event, adding only additional piquancy to the general atmosphere. Family attendance is stressed. There are complete facilities for picnicking as well as food at modest prices available on the grounds.

While the daytime performa[nces] can be viewed in light c[lothing] through sun glasses, a bl[anket or] two at night is not ar[miss. Le]tards may look a l[ittle avant] garde to you, but th[ey are excel]lent shin-warmers; [or be conser]vative and wear [long underwear] or jaegers or [zip yourself, up]right, into a s[leeping bag. As re]ported by var[ious magazines across] the countr[y, this is possibly the] finest jaz[z festival in action —] and the[re is lots of action. Go pre]pared [to relax and enjoy it.]

T[his year's program, as an]no[unced, contains a widely varied] a[nd nicely balanced potpourri of] sights, sounds and senses. As announced, with a few added surprises:

Friday Evening — Sept. 20 — 9:00 p.m.

Modern Jazz Quartet, with John Lewis, Milt Jackson, Percy Heath, Connie Kay. Jack Teagarden and Pee Wee Russell with Gerry Mulligan, Charlie Teagarden and other guests. Lambert, Hendricks and Bavan with the Gildo Mahones Trio. Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers with Curtis Fuller, Freddie Hubbard and Wayne Shorter. Jimmy Witherspoon. Gerald Wilson and the All-Star Festival Orchestra, with Carmell Jones, Harold Land, Bud Shank, Teddy Edwards, Mel Lewis, Joe Pass.

Saturday Afternoon — Sept. 21 — 1:30 p.m.

Muddy Waters and his Blues Band. Lu Watters — Turk Murphy and the Yerba Buena Jazz Band Revisited. The Gospel Song with the Andrews Sisters. Joe Sullivan. Jack Teagarden — Pee Wee Russell — Gerry Mulligan and the Festival Swing Band. Gerald Wilson and the Festival Orchestra and added guest features.

Saturday Evening — Sept. 21 — 8:15 p.m.

Gerry Mulligan Quartet with Bob Brookmeyer, Dave Bailey and Bill Crow. Thelonious Monk Quartet. Mel Torme, M. C. Helen Merrill Gerald Wilson and the Festival Orchestra and many guest stars.

Sunday Afternoon — Sept. 22 — 1:30 p.m.

John Lewis, Festival Music Consultant, Presents "New Music." Thelonious Monk with the Festival Orchestra. Laurindo Almeida joins the Modern Jazz Quartet. Gerry Mulligan and guests. A solo concert by Laudindo Almeida. Gerald Wilson and New Music with the Festival Orchestra. The Drums of Ghana.

Sunday Evening — Sept. 22 — 7:15 p.m.

Harry James and his Orchestra. The Dizzy Gillespie Quintet, with James Moody. The Dave Brubeck Quartet, with Paul Desmond, Joe Morello and Eugene Wright. Carmen McRae, M. C. and additional surprise guests.

AUTHENTIC ENGLISH: One of Hugh Comstock's finest homes with mellow European charm reflected in every detail . . . . carefully-chosen hand-hewn timbers, custom-forged hardware, unusual rustic-beamed ceiling, and an "Old Curiosity Shop" bay window. Spectacular seascapes from the diningroom, livingroom and master bedroom. Three sleeping areas with sitting-rooms. Ideally situated for privacy and outdoor enjoyment.

ORIENTAL MODERN: Luxurious in every detail, this owner-planned residence should appeal to the purchaser who seeks a "view property" within stone's throw of the beach, a compact floor plan that includes three bedrooms, three baths, decorator's color combinations throughout, and a delightful private patio-dining area.

COMSTOCK CONTEMPORARY RUSTIC: Designed and constructed for true Carmel casual living, this home has a special personality of its own. Truly a "sun-trap", the custom-built residence has as its center of interest the livingroom with its exposed aggragate cantilevered hearth and the accessible large deck. The walls and ceilings are finished in a rustic driftwood tone; the efficient kitchen is fully-equipped.

MONTEREY COLONIAL: Carmel Point's finest traditional home, situated on a spacious corner site with an ocean view from several rooms, is now for sale. Approached by way of a beautifully bricked driveway, the door opens to an entry hall with curving stairway to second floor bedrooms (2) and baths (2). First floor rooms include LARGE livingroom with picture window, diningroom, library with bath & closet, bedroom & bath, and roomy kitchen. Maid's room & bath on lower level; garages for three cars.

1,500 See Chinese Opera at Sunset Aud

Over 1,500 Peninsula residents attended the three performances of the Foo Hsing Opera at Sunset School Auditorium over last weekend.

Entirely new to the Monterey Peninsula, Chinese Opera is an ancient and highly stylized art. The Foo Hsing school is located in a suburb of Taipei, Taiwan. It was begun in 1957 by Mr. Wang Chen-tsu after over two decades spent in theatrical activities.

Most of the 120 children, aged 9-17, now studying at the school are orphans, and many are refugees from the mainland. The course of study takes seven years, and includes courses in dance, acrobatics, voice and dramatics.

After leaving Carmel, the troupe returned to San Francisco for another 20 performances, then planned to leave for Hawaii on their way back to Formosa.

Carmel High Gridders Asked to Report

Carmel High School has issued a call for football players to report today & tomorrow to take physical exams and check out equipment. The varsity registers today, the junior varsity, tomorrow, Aug. 23 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Lloyd R. Miller, director of athletics at Carmel High, also announced that the second annual Mother's Enlightenment Program has been scheduled for tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

This meeting, conducted by Coach Hadley Hicks and his staff, offers information about Carmel High football to the parents of players. Dr. F. C. Burleson, team physician, will also speak on training and health rules and team trainer, Pat Gallegos, on taping and prevention of injuries. Miller will discuss the football program in general.

Coach Hicks plans to show films of last year's King City High-Carmel High football game. Refreshments will be served.

Little League

Newly elected president, Barney Laiolo, heads the new roster of officers for Carmel's Little League. Glen Harnish is vice-president, Bob Forbes, treasurer and Bonnie (Mrs. K. H.) Holbrook, secretary. Dorothy (Mrs. Robert) Forbes is chairman of the organization's auxiliary.

Hospital Given Norman Sculpture

Trustees of Community Hospital have just accepted a gift of a large piece of sculpture by Emile Norman for the fountain court of the hospital.

The gift was made jointly by Harriet Keen Roberts of Carmel and the artist in honor of the late R. Ellis Roberts.

Titled Four Fishes, the sculpture was done at the request of architect Edward Durell Stone while the building was under construction. It was made of sand collected from Monterey Peninsula beaches.

Multicolored overlays and embedments are combined in Four Fishes in the elegant style for which the Big Sur artist is noted.

The gift is valued at $10,000.

Serra Mass at Mission

Padre Junipero Serra, Franciscan founder of the California Missions, will be honored Sunday, Aug. 25, at Old Mission San Antonio, near Jolon in Monterey County.

"Junipero Serra Day" will be observed by the Franciscan Padres with a Mass at 10:00 a.m. After the Mass, a cutting from one of the original pomegranites will be planted in front of the arched corridor, to commemorate the first fruit trees brought to California by the Padres.

An interesting exhibit of vaquero, or cowboy, gear used some 50 or 60 years ago on the Samuel Harris ranch at nearby Pleyto will by displayed for the first time. These fine old pieces were donated to the mission by Mrs. Joseph Barrett (daughter of Sameul Harris) of San Luis Obispo.

Spindlers Return from Sabbatical Europe Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Warren (Tor) Spindler and their four children Troy, Mark, Kathy and Kim have returned to the Peninsula after a six-month tour of Europe in a Microbus on Tor's sabbatical leave from Monterey Peninsula College. His father, William Spindler, and sister, Miss Dolores Spindler, both of Richmond, accompanied them.

During their trip, which included Spain, France, Yugoslavia, Germany, Austria, England, Belgium and Denmark, the Spindlers made it a point to stay in as many private homes as possible.

In Yugoslavia a sad event occured when nine year old Kim slipped while playing tag and broke her hip. Kim, in a cast from toe to chest proved valorous and was well-cared for in the "best orthopedic hospital in Northern Yugoslavia." She later jetted all by herself from, Frankfurt to San Francisco, staying with her grandparents at Walnut Creek while the rest of the family completed their trip.

The family is now staying with the Neil Jensens in Carmel Valley until they can move into their own home.

Due to the success of their trip, Tor and Kay are convinced that American children and young students should go to Europe to widen their scope and understanding of the world.

Bequests For Education

The $7 million estate of the late Margaret Jacks, member of a pioneer Peninsula family, includes four bequests to educational institutions. The largest for $6 million will go to Stanford University, but will not be distributed until 1966. Meanwhile the University will receive an annual income estimated at $200,000 from a trust fund, according to the Wells Fargo Bank.

Also to be distributed upon termination of the trust are $25,000 to the Monterey Foundation and $10,000 each to Radcliffe College and Mills College.

Planning Commission

Gunnar Norberg added that he concurred with the admiral, stating he felt section 1304.1 (N) of the municipal code clearly indicated the matter should be passed. Since a resolution had not been prepared, the matter could not be acted upon until the group's next meeting.

Regarding the off-street parking problem, the board plans to send the city council a recommendation that the street department prepare a cost survey of cutting back banks and moving smaller shrubbery to add an estimated 75 or 80 parking spaces on the street. Also the council will be asked to provide stickers for cars of residents in the fringe area surrounding the business district which is soon to be included in the timed parking area. Finally, the council will be asked once again to consider some type of traffic pattern, with one-way streets. It should be pointed out that the time-limit parking in the business area has caused all-day parking to encroach into the residential area surrounding it.

The commission then went into a study session to examine work of the design review committee. The much-discussed service station of the Shell Oil Co., at San Carlos and Fifth St., came in for some additional scrutiny. A representative of the firm said this will be the most expensive station in the nation and the prettiest. The commission agreed, but suggested an additional touch of greenery be added by next week's meeting. The group also looked at a design for a building at Mission and Eighth and another on Lincoln between Ocean and Seventh, this latter for six shops and an apartment for Mrs. Tanya Treutle.

The session ended near 7 p.m.
